There's Been a Change

Those who have read each issue of THE CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR WORLD carefully may have noted an important change. Beginning in 1974 with the February-March issue the magazine is no longer sold by subscription. Instead, it has been determined by Christian Endeavor international leaders that the publication is to be sent to all members and contributors without charge.

Through the pages of this official publication those who support the work will be kept up-to-date. They will learn what is being accomplished as a result of their gifts. We think this is a change for the better.

We are anxious to have news and pictures to be used in the publication along with suggestions for improvement.

Clyde Meadows To Receive Citation

Dr. Clyde W. Meadows, president of the World's Christian Endeavor Union, will receive the Fifteenth International Youth's Distinguished Service Citation at the Sunday afternoon session of the World's Convention July 28 at Essen, Germany.

To be presented by Dr. LaVerne E. Boss and Rev. Charles W. Barner, president and general secretary of the International Society, this Citation represents the highest award of the movement in North America.

Dr. Meadows will join a distinguished list of Citation recipients, which includes Herbert C. Hoover, Richard M. Nixon, Jerome Hines, Roy Rogers and Dale Evans, Vonda Kay Van Dyke, and Dr. Kenneth N. Taylor.

The Citation will recognize Clyde Meadows' personal effort and sacrifice over many years as a Christian Endeavor leader and as a pastor and bishop of the Church of the United Brethren in Christ.

Dr. Meadows served as president of the International Society from 1959 to 1963. At the World's Convention in Sydney, Australia, in 1962 he was inducted as president of the worldwide movement, the third person to hold this position of top leadership.

His predecessors were the founder, Dr. Francis E. Clark, who was president from 1895 when the union was organized until his death in 1927, and Dr. Daniel A. Poling, who served from 1927 to 1962.

Dr. Meadows has traveled three times around the world and has logged over a million and a half air miles, visiting 65 countries, during the last 12 years. He has helped weld the national unions together and has been instrumental in the organization of five new unions.

Dr. Meadows and his wife Mabel make their home in Chambersburg, Pennsylvania, where he served as pastor of King Street United Brethren Church 1928-1961. In addition to his Christian Endeavor work, he is director of the Department of Evangelism of the Pennsylvania State Sabbath School Association and is much in demand as an evangelist and song leader.

ABOVE — Clyde Meadows wears the World's Union chain of office as well as the International Society Presidential Chain. LEFT — The Distinguished Alumni Citation was presented to Dr. Meadows by Dr. J. Ralph Pfister of the Huntington College Alumni Association May 25.

The 17th World's Christian Endeavor Convention in Essen, Germany, July 24-28 will be the highlight of two European Fellowship Tours sponsored by the International Society this summer. More than 9,000 delegates from every area of the world will be participating in the convention. Many youth will experience hostel housing during the days of the convention, while adults will live with German families or in hotels.

Dr. Clyde W. Meadows, president of the World's Union, heads a list of distinguished leaders of the tour parties from the International Society. The group includes the president, Dr. LaVerne H. Boss; the assistant to the president, Arch J. McQuilkin; the associate president, Jane A. Snow; three vice-presidents; and five state presidents. Delegates from the West Indies and the Pacific Islands are also included; William Donlin heads a group from Hawaii, Rev. Jude Samson from the Marshall Islands, Rev. Fiti Sunia from American Samoa, and Oswell Rankine from the Cayman Islands.

The first tour, under the direction of Phyllis I. Rike, departs from New York for Brussels Sunday, July 21, on a chartered jet. The tour party will number 250. The second tour group of 170 members departs New

VACATION WITH A PURPOSE

York for Amsterdam Monday, July 22, under the direction of Rev. Charles W. Barner. In addition to the convention, the circle tours will include visits to Amsterdam, Heidelberg, Strasbourg, Paris, and Brussels.

A group of 45 tour party members comes from the Perry County area of Pennsylvania. Rev. Russell Kerns, pastor of the Loysville Lutheran charge, is leader of the delegation. He and his "Christian Endeavor Clowns" are rumored to have many surprises in store for their fellow tourists and overseas contacts.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Hauessler head a delegation of 17 young people and their counselors from Woodstock (New York) Reformed Church. This group from the foothills of the Catskills has conducted a lawn market, bake sales, and many other efforts to raise money for Operation Germany. A German Fair in May raised over $1,500.

Many young people have planned various personal projects to raise money to pay for the cost of the tour. More than 100 under 25 years of age are participating in the tour.

Tour No. 1 will return to John F. Kennedy International Airport in New York City on Sunday, August 4. Tour No. 2 returns to the United States on Tuesday, August 6.

Although traveling independently, the presidents of the Canadian Union (Matthew Dunlop) and of the Mexican Union (Gamaliel Adame Brito) will also participate in the Essen Convention. A number of others, including a party of youth from Canada, will travel to Germany from the International Society.

BABY GROWTH

There was a baby born in the Solomon Islands in 1970. This baby was first brought up by three men from Australia. But, do you know what happened? The baby tried to eat Solomon Islands food. This was not good; the baby was thin and weak and did not grow well. Later the young people in the Solomons said, "Perhaps we will try to feed him on Island food." So they began to care for the baby in three ways.

Firstly — they considered which would be the best food for him to eat in order to make him healthy.

Secondly — they had to find a way for him to play with other children in the Islands.

Thirdly — they thought of the exercises which would help him to grow sturdy and strong.

Four years later the baby is growing well and strong and is moving around the Islands visiting schools and villages. In November 1973, for three days, the people who are looking after the baby met at Auki. They were happy as they listened to reports from where their son had been.

The first report was from his father (the President). He said, "It is very exciting to see new societies being formed in both schools and villages, and young people in many places very interested. Forty societies altogether have been formed."

His mother (the Treasurer) reported next. "Thank God, because young people now realize the importance of giving money to help others, instead of keeping it for themselves."

Lastly, his aunt (the Missionary Convenor) gave her report. "Thank God a goodly number of magazines have come in freely from many praying friends."

During this meeting these people planned the program for their son for 1974. The baby's name is CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

TRIBUTE TO GEORGE H. NELSON

By Dr. Clyde W. Meadows

George Henry Nelson, Brisbane, Queensland, Australia, age 76, a faithful servant of the Lord and beloved friend, vice-president of the World's Christian Endeavor Union, passed to his heavenly reward Friday, May 3, 1974. He had fallen at his home April 20 and broken his leg, but it was getting along so well at the hospital that he expected to soon return home. He was stricken with a cerebral hemorrhage, lapsed into unconsciousness, and died within a couple of hours. He is survived by his wife Lily, whose address is 8 Jupetta Street, Aspley Heights, Brisbane, Queensland, Australia 4034, a daughter, Mrs. G. A. (Joy Nelson) Milligan, a son Raymond G. Nelson, and several grandchildren.

He was active in Christian Endeavor since 1918. For over 40 years he was a leader in the worldwide movement. He and his wife traveled extensively in the interest of Christian Endeavor in all parts of the world and participated in many world conventions and conferences. When the 10th World's Convention was held at Melbourne, Australia, in 1938 he was president of the Australia Union and also vice-president of the World's Union, which position he held until the time of his death. His enthusiasm for Christian Endeavor and his good judgment and ability to get along with others were a great asset to the movement through the years.

For 40 years he was a member of Queensland Methodist Conference, serving as connectional treasurer, and chairman of the finance committee. He was a lay preacher 55 years.

Mr. Nelson was active in civic affairs, having served on Brisbane City Council 30 years. From 1942 to 1959 he was manager of the Brisbane Permanent Banking Co. In 1936-37 he was state president of the Commonwealth Institute of Accountants; 1954-55 he was Brisbane Rotary Club president and Rotary District Governor 1958-59. From 1960 to 1964 he was chairman of Brisbane YMCA and director of the Temperance League.

We shall miss his congenial presence and wise counsel in the world meetings of Christian Endeavor, but trust the God whom he served so faithfully to lay the mantle of George Nelson upon the shoulders of another that the work of Christian Endeavor may go forward in its various ministries around the world.

ISLANDS OF THE PACIFIC

By Dr. Clyde W. Meadows

Presidential tours have been a major feature of the present administration, which has taken the president to 65 countries of the world in the work of Christian Endeavor and to many of them several times. The total travel mileage of the president in these twelve years has been over one and a half million miles. Through personal visits of the president to various parts of the world new national unions have been organized and established. National unions have been encouraged and brought into a closer relationship with the World's Union.

The most recent of the nine presidential tours during the present quadrennium was to the islands in the Pacific, June 5-20, 1974, which took me to Majuro, Marshall Islands, in the Micronesian group, a trust area of the U.S.A. located about 3,000 miles southwest of Hawaii.

Majuro is a tropical coral island about 36 miles long and not more than a city block wide in a circular pattern and is well covered with coconut trees. The Pacific Ocean is on the outer side and the lagoon on the other. There is no point of land more than three feet above sea level. I thought to myself, "If a big wave hits this island in the time of a storm, it will sweep across it and take with it the 8,000 people that live here." But when I expressed this fear I was assured there was little chance of a storm since the last storm to come to the island was in 1882, and that if it did come the waves would be broken up by the outer coral reef before they got to the island. It indeed is a tropical paradise with plenty of coconuts, bananas, breadfruit, fish, and pineapples.

A hard surface road runs from one end of the island to the other. An airport is located about the middle of the island with a single runway that runs lengthwise with the island and uses the entire width except for a narrow road for about two miles. Incidentally, the runway and apron space on each side are used as a catchment for rainwater supply. The water is pumped to a large reservoir and thence through a purifying system to the people. The rainfall is sufficient to provide adequate water supply. Electric power is supplied through diesel-driven generators.

Life Centers Around the Church

The church indeed is central in the lives of the people on Majuro Island and Christian Endeavor is a major activity in each congregation. The Rev. Jude Samson is pastor of the Uliga Protestant Church (Congregational or United Church of Christ), the largest congregation on the island. I preached there Sunday morning, June 9, to about 2,500 people and noticed that the bulletin reported 2,327 in attendance the Sunday before. That afternoon I preached in the Rita Protestant Church, the Rev. Hansen Lalimo, pastor, to a congregation of over 600. I also visited and enjoyed a picnic at the Laura Protestant Church at the other end of the island, where the Rev. Hiram Lang-

rik is the pastor and has a congregation of over 400. On a given Sunday these three congregations will have over 3,500 in attendance or about half the total population. I do not believe this could happen anywhere in the U.S.A. Rev. Jude Samson is the president of the Marshall Islands Christian Endeavor Union in addition to his pastoral duties and expects to attend the 17th World's Convention in Essen, Germany, along with 10 or 10 other delegates from the Marshalls.

While I was on Majuro about 60 Christian Endeavor leaders and pastors gathered from a dozen different islands and I conducted with them four one-hour seminar periods in the history, organization, and effective methods of operation of Christian Endeavor. Some of these leaders came from islands over 350 miles away. They had to spend over a week in getting to Majuro by boat and would have to spend the same to get home. The ships do not come directly to Majuro, but go from island to island and that not according to any established schedule.

The Marshallese are a most gracious people. Every meal for me was a feast or a banquet and they gave me many presents from their artistic handiwork and handcraft.

Visit to Hawaii

In Honolulu I met with Christian Endeavor leaders, including Dr. Abraham Akaka, pastor of the Kawaiahaeo Church, and William Donlin, president of the Hawaiian Christian Endeavor Union. In fact, I stayed at the home of Bill and Beth Donlin on the mountainside where one has a "million dollar" view of Honolulu, Pearl Harbor, and Diamond Head. The Kawaiahaeo Church put on a musical and a semi-luau for me, at which I spoke of "Christian Endeavor around the World."

The 152nd Aha Paeaina of the Hawaiian United Church of Christ was held in the historic Haili Congregational Church in Hilo, Hawaii. It was also the occasion of the 150th anniversary of the Haili Church. The Rev. Kahu David Kaapu is the pastor.

Each of the five days of the Aha the state Christian Endeavor union had a sunrise service at 6:00 a.m. at which I spoke. I also gave an address to the more than 300 delegates during one of the general sessions.

The Aha Paeaina is under the leadership of Dr. Chester Terpstra as general secretary/conference minister, a long-time Christian Endeavorer. The Rev. William Kaina is the Hawaiian Churches coordinator. The general secretary/conference minister is what many denominations would call the bishop of the church.

It was reported that this was the first time a World's Christian Endeavor President had been invited to share in an Aha Paeaina. I observed that these people of Hawaii are deeply interested in the work of Christian Endeavor. About a dozen of them will be at the World's Convention in Essen, Germany.

The Hawaiians, like many island groups in the Pacific, are a very musical people. The Haili Church has eight organized choirs. One of these, The Cantata Choir (42 voices), presented during the Aha John W. Peterson's missionary cantata, "So Send I You."

While I was in Hilo, Walter Nomura, secretary of the Aha and former president of the Hawaiian Christian Endeavor, took me to see the banyan tree planted in 1936 by Dr. Daniel A. Poling along the famous Banyan Drive. It has developed into a great and beautiful tree, symbolic of the spread of Christian Endeavor around the world.

ENDEAVORERS IN ACTION

Report from India

In the June-July-August 1974 issue of YOUTH TODAY, Pennsylvania's publication, the India traveling secretary, Rev. Albert Jacob, reports on plans for pioneer field work in four states. He and Rev. J. V. Mahliha Dhas, the second traveling secretary, will tour extensively in Gujarat, Punjab, Haryana, and The Himachal, in an effort to organize Christian Endeavor on a state level in all four states.

Bombay Youth Operation is a new project of youth witnessing to youth. Bombay youth seem to be indifferent to the things of the Lord, so this operation is working among them to bring them to the Lord by means of literature and personal contacts. The unions of the state have started a Christian Endeavor Bookshop at Miraj, which will take care of the needs of Endeavorers on an all-India level.

"We have many youth sincere seekers with whom we are working," states Mr. Jacob. He also comments that in 1973 the India leadership passed into the hands of youth, in the persons of B. K. Pramanik, the new general secretary, and Y. R. Joseph, newly-elected treasurer.

EXPLO '74

HE TOUCHED ME

*One day, oh, so long ago
I felt the presence of a Supreme being.
A being more powerful than any
ordinary man,
Full of grace, love, joy and
understanding.
He began to move closer, and
He touched me, with a kind of gentle touch I'd never felt,
Yes, on that day I was touched by the presence of my Lord, my Saviour, my Redeemer.
I did not think one being could
change me so,
but my Lord did.
Yes, He touched me that day,
touched me with His tender understanding love, and I can still feel His presence today,
because He touched me!*

I PLEDGE ALLEGIANCE TO GOD

*I pledge allegiance to God,
the true maker of mankind.
Not only do I give my heart;
but, also, my soul and mind.*

*And to truth for which He stands,
He'll lead me as I take His hand.
One heaven, One God, one love to give not only for your family, but to all those who live.*

THE LORD KNOWS

Oh Peace, why must you take so long to come?

*Lord knows with this chaos
we certainly could use some.*

Oh Love, please do not fade away.

Lord knows with love in our hearts, we'll certainly find the way.

Yes, the Lord knows our thoughts.

He knows our actions, too.

But it's up to us to decide what we want to do.

*So give your life to Him
today,*

And trust in Him, He'll show you the way.

LOOK AT IT THIS WAY...

SPEAK UP FOR CHRIST

International Society of Christian Endeavor

By Dr. LaVerne H. Boss, President

In God's Holy Word we read about the enthusiasm, commitment, and burning desire in the hearts of Christians in the early church. Today's church, heir apparent of that victorious heritage, is too often identified with lack of enthusiasm and possibly with dismal failure.

Former enthusiasm has turned into back-biting and the former objective of seeking the lost is not considered of too great importance.

The church many times is too close to the pollution of a sinful world and frequently has seemingly slipped into a complacent and easy rut. In fact, it might be classified as being spiritually dead, or at least a trace of rigor mortis is detected.

I do not mean to paint a gloomy picture, for as I have visited Christian Endeavor societies and churches across North America, I have found many lighthouses where the pollution of the world has been kept at bay by strong Christian faith and commitment. These are the societies and churches where the Christian Gospel is preached. Personal salvation is stressed, with service and commitment to Jesus Christ demonstrated in a positive way.

Recently I read in a religious publication that "many individual members of churches are spiritually 'fat and lazy'—compared to saints of old who fed on the Scripture and then did their spiritual jogging testifying for Christ along the paths and in the hamlets of their little world." The call is loud and clear to SPEAK UP FOR CHRIST.

Everyone has a talent or some ability; everyone has a mission and responsibility. We need members who are willing to be Christ's spokesmen. His challenge to us in Scripture is very clear. "If ye will confess me before men, I will confess you before my Father who is in heaven."

If your Christian Endeavor society or local church is a social organization, plead with you to organize around God's Word. Encourage and stimulate your members to assume a responsibility and become ambassadors of Jesus Christ. This is the only way to become a meaningful instrument in God's hand. Break the magnetic pull of this earth, its pollution and sin, and redirect your efforts in a positive Christ-centered mission.

At work, at play, at school, in the office, in the store, on the farm, and in the home, let us speak up and stand up as Christian witnesses. Let the redeemed of the Lord be heard until every neighborhood and community—in fact, all the world—has heard the good news of salvation!
